Enroll in the training today!

Caring for a child with medical complexity can feel overwhelming, but support is here. The Pediatric Pandemic Network offers training designed just for families and caregivers. Learn from experts and other families how to manage care confidently and prepare for life at home.

What's Inside the Training?

- Module 1: Introduction
Understand the definitions of CMC and Children and Youth with Special Health Care Needs (CYSHCN), and the importance of education, planning, and teamwork.
- Module 2: First Day Home
Understand the importance of preparing for the first 24 hours, differentiate home and hospital care, learn key home care steps for CMC, and identify priority contacts like 911.
- Module 3: Emergency Readiness
Describe the importance and key components of emergency readiness, demonstrate how to call 911 and communicate critical information, and explain the role of EMS in emergencies for CMC and home visits.

Why This Matters for Families

- Gain confidence in pre-transition preparations to take your child home from the hospital
- Learn what to expect and how to prepare
- Listen to other families' experiences
- Know how to stay calm and act fast in emergencies
